

GREAT VESPERS ON JANUARY 16
VENERABLE AND GOD-BEARING FATHER ANTHONY THE GREAT
ANTHONY THE NEW, ASCETIC OF BERREA IN MACEDONIA; NEW-MARTYR GEORGE OF IOANNINA

Priest: Blessed is our God, always, now and ever, and unto ages of ages.

Choir: Amen.

Come, let us worship and fall down before God our King.

Come, let us worship and fall down before Christ, our King and our God.

Come, let us worship and fall down before Christ Himself, our King and our God.

THE PSALM OF INTRODUCTION—PSALM 103

Reader: Bless the Lord, O my soul; O Lord my God, Thou hast been magnified exceedingly. Confession and majesty hast Thou put on, Who coverest Thyself with light as with a garment, Who stretchest out the heaven as it were a curtain; Who supporteth His chambers in the waters, Who appointeth the clouds for His ascent, Who walketh upon the wings of the winds, Who maketh His angels spirits, and His ministers a flame of fire.

Who establisheth the earth in the sureness thereof; it shall not be turned back forever and ever. The abyss like a garment is His mantle; upon the mountains shall the waters stand. At Thy rebuke they will flee, at the voice of Thy thunder shall they be afraid.

The mountains rise up and the plains sink down, unto the place where Thou hast established them. Thou appointedst a bound that they shall not pass, neither return to cover the earth. He sendeth forth springs in the valleys; between the mountains will the waters run. They shall give drink to all the beasts of the field; the wild asses will wait to quench their thirst. Beside them will the birds of the heaven lodge, from the midst of the rocks will they give voice.

He watereth the mountains from His chambers; the earth shall be satisfied with the fruit of Thy works. He causeth the grass to grow for the cattle, and green herb for the service of men, to bring forth bread out of the earth; and wine maketh glad the heart of man. To make his face cheerful with oil; and bread strengtheneth man's heart.

The trees of the plain shall be satisfied, the cedars of Lebanon, which Thou hast planted. There will the sparrows make their nests; the house of the heron is chief among them. The high mountains are a refuge for the harts, and so is the rock for the hares.

He hath made the moon for seasons; the sun knoweth his going down. Thou appointedst the darkness, and there was the night, wherein all the beasts of the forest will go abroad; young lions roaring after their prey, and seeking their food from God. The sun ariseth, and they are gathered together, and they lay them down in their dens. Man shall go forth unto his work, and to his labor until the evening. How magnified are Thy works, O Lord! In wisdom hast Thou made them all.

The earth is filled with Thy creation. So is this great and spacious sea, wherein are things creeping innumerable, small living creatures with the great. There go the ships; there this leviathan, whom Thou hast made to play therein. All things wait on Thee, to give them their food in due season; when Thou givest it them, they will gather it. When Thou openest Thy hand, all things shall be filled with goodness; when Thou turnest away Thy face, they shall be troubled.

Thou wilt take their spirit, and they shall cease; and unto their dust shall they return. Thou wilt send forth Thy Spirit, and they shall be created; and Thou shalt renew the face of the earth.

Let the glory of the Lord be unto the ages; the Lord will rejoice in His works. Who looketh on the earth and maketh it tremble, Who toucheth the mountains and they smoke. I will sing unto the Lord throughout my life, I will chant to my God for as long as I have my being.

May my words be sweet unto Him; I will rejoice in the Lord. O that sinners would cease from the earth, and they that work iniquity, that they should be no more. Bless the Lord, O my soul.

The sun knoweth his going down. Thou appointedst the darkness, and there was the night. How magnified are Thy works, O Lord! In wisdom hast Thou made them all.

Glory to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Spirit; both now and ever, and unto ages of ages. Amen.

Alleluia, Alleluia, Alleluia. Glory to Thee, O God. (THRICE)
O our God and our Hope, glory to Thee!

“O LORD, I HAVE CRIED” IN TONE FOUR

Choir: O Lord, I have cried out unto Thee, hear Thou me; hear Thou me, O Lord. O Lord, I have cried out unto Thee, hear Thou me. Give ear to the voice of my supplication when I cry out unto Thee: hear Thou me, O Lord.

Choir: Let my prayer be set forth before Thee as the incense, and the lifting up of my hands as the evening sacrifice; hear Thou me, O Lord.

- + Set a watch, O Lord, before my mouth, and a protecting door round about my lips.
- + Incline not my heart to evil words, to make excuses in sins.
- + With men that work iniquity; and I will not communicate with the choicest of them.
- + The just man shall correct me in mercy and shall reprove me; but let not the oil of the sinner anoint my head.
- + For my prayer also shall still be against the things with which they are well pleased; their judges falling upon the rock have been swallowed up.
- + They shall hear my words, for they are sweet; as when the thickness of the earth is broken upon the ground, their bones are scattered by the side of hell.

- + But to Thee, O Lord, Lord, are mine eyes; in Thee have I put my trust, take not away my soul.
- + Keep me from the snare which they have laid for me, and the traps of the workers of iniquity.
- + Let the wicked fall into their own nets, whilst I alone escape.
- + I cried unto the Lord with my voice, with my voice unto the Lord, did I make my supplication.
- + I poured out my supplication before Him; I showed before Him my trouble.
- + When my spirit was overwhelmed within me, then Thou knewest my path.
- + In the way wherein I walked have they secretly laid a snare for me.
- + I looked on my right hand, and beheld, but there was no man that would know me.
- + Refuge failed me; no one cared for my soul.
- + I cried unto Thee, O Lord; I said: Thou art my refuge and my portion in the land of the living.
- + Attend unto my cry, for I am brought very low.
- + Deliver me from my persecutors, for they are stronger than I.

Verse 10. Bring my soul out of prison, that I may praise Thy Name.

Verse 9. The righteous shall wait for me until Thou recompense me.

Verse 8. Out of the depths have I cried to Thee, O Lord, Lord hear my voice.

Verse 7. Let Thine ears be attentive to the voice of my supplication.

For St. Anthony in Tone Four (Thou who wast called from on high)

Verse 6. If Thou, O Lord, shouldst mark iniquities, O Lord, who shall stand? For with Thee there is forgiveness.

Thou who didst shine with the splendor of the Spirit, * when thou wast enkindled with intense desire for God * and given wings to soar up in soul * to seek with yearning * the very summit and pinnacle of love, * then didst thou completely set at nought all flesh and blood; * and thou didst rise far beyond this world * by toilsome labors * and joining stillness to pure and fervent love. * Hence, as thou soughtest, so hast thou been filled * with the good things found yonder, and thou dost shine * as a star that doth brighten * and doth cheer our souls, O Anthony.

Verse 5. Because of Thy Name have I waited for Thee, O Lord; my soul hath waited upon Thy word, my soul hath hoped in the Lord.

Thou who didst shine with the splendor of the Spirit ... (repeat above)

Verse 4. From the morning watch until night, from the morning watch let Israel trust in the Lord.
O thou who brakest the demons' darts and bowstrings * with the Holy Spirit's grace, O Father Anthony, * thou didst reveal their deep wickedness * and snares to all men * through the divine teachings of thy blessed mouth; * shining bright as lightning with divine magnificence, * thou didst become the most splendid star * of all monastics, * the desert's foremost and fairest ornament, * the skilled and hallowed healer of the sick, * the pre-eminent pattern and archetype * of the practice of virtue * and the discipline of excellence.

Verse 3. For with the Lord there is mercy and with Him is abundant redemption, and He will deliver Israel from all his iniquities.

O thou who brakest the demons' darts and bowstrings ... (repeat above)

Verse 2. Praise the Lord, all ye nations; praise Him, all ye people.

Thou who wast filled with divinely given graces, * since Christ God found thee to be a spotless looking-glass * for the reflections of things divine, * He made His own light * to flash within thee like lightning with its beams. * Wherefore, thou becamest an unfailing spring of cures; * for them that hungered, their sustenance; * for them that thirsted, * thou didst refresh them with rains that quenched desire; * and thou, as seeing what was in men's souls, * with wise counsels didst make of them better men * unto God, Whom entreat now * to enlighten and to save our souls.

Verse 1. For His mercy is great toward us, and the truth of the Lord endureth forever.

O pure of soul and of heart and understanding, * Angel born of earth and mortal truly heavenly, *thou perfect measure of temperance * and wise instructor * of true virginity, blessed Anthony, * since thou art united with thy Master evermore * and glorifiest Him ceaselessly * in hymns of glory * with Angels, Martyrs, and all the choirs of Saints, * O Father rescue them that ever keep * thy most sacred memorial joyously, * and redeem them from failings, * bitter dangers, and adversities.

DOXASTICON OF ST. ANTHONY IN TONE SIX

Glory to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Spirit.

Preserving intact the image of God within thee, and establishing thy mind as ruler over the destructive passions through asceticism, thou didst attain to the likeness of God as far as is possible; for in bravely compelling nature, thou wast diligent to subject the worse to the better, and to subjugate the flesh to the spirit. Hence, thou didst prove to be the summit of monastics, the colonizer of the wilderness, a trainer of them that run the course well, and a most exact rule of virtue. And now in the Heavens, with the taking away of the looking-glass, O Anthony, thou clearly beholdest the Holy Trinity, before Whom thou standest face to face, making entreaty for those who with faith and love do honor thee.

THEOTOKION IN TONE SIX

Both now and ever, and unto ages of ages. Amen.

Who shall not beatify thee, most holy Virgin? Who shall not praise thy birth-giving, free of travailing and pain? For the only Son rising timelessly from the Father, Himself did become incarnate from thee in an inexplicable way. He, Who while God by nature, became for our sakes Man by nature, not divided into two persons, but known by two natures without mixture or confusion. To Him, O noble and most blessed one, plead for the salvation of our souls.

THE HOLY ENTRANCE

(While the Doxasticon is chanted, the following dialogue occurs QUIETLY as the clergy make the entrance.)

Deacon: Let us pray to the Lord. Lord, have mercy.

Priest: In the evening and in the morning and at noonday we praise Thee, we bless Thee, we give thanks unto Thee, and we pray unto Thee, O Master of all, Lord Who lovest mankind: Direct our prayer as incense before Thee, and incline not our hearts unto words or thoughts of evil, but deliver us from all who seek after our souls. For unto Thee, O Lord, Lord, are our eyes, and in Thee have we hoped. Put us not to shame, O our God. For unto Thee are due all glory, honor, and worship: to the Father and to the Son and to the Holy Spirit; now and ever, and unto ages of ages.

Deacon: Amen.

(When the clergy reach the center of the solea, the first part of the great censuring begins. After the first part of the great censuring is completed, this next dialogue occurs QUIETLY.)

THE OLD TESTAMENT READINGS

The First Passage

Deacon: Wisdom!

Reader: The Reading from the Wisdom of Solomon. (3:1-9)

Deacon: Let us attend!

Reader: The souls of the righteous are in the hands of God, and there shall no torment touch them. In the sight of the unwise they seemed to die, and their departure is taken for misery, and their going from us to be utter destruction, but they are in peace. For though they be punished in the sight of men, yet is their hope full of immortality. And having been a little chastised, they shall be greatly rewarded; for God proved them and found them worthy for Himself. As gold in the furnace hath He tried them, and received them as a burnt offering. And in the time of their visitation they shall shine, and run to and fro like sparks among the stubble. They shall judge nations and have dominion over peoples, and their Lord shall reign unto the ages. They that put their trust in Him shall understand the truth; and such as be faithful in love shall abide with Him; for grace and mercy is in His Saints, and visitation among His elect.

The Second Passage

Deacon: Wisdom!

Reader: The Reading from the Wisdom of Solomon. (5:15-6:3)

Deacon: Let us attend!

Reader: The righteous live forever; and their reward is in the Lord, and the care of them is with the Most High. Therefore shall they receive the kingdom of majesty and the crown of comeliness from the Lord's hand, for with His right hand shall He cover them, and with His arm shall He protect them. He shall take to Him His jealousy for complete armor, and make creation His weapon for the warding off of His enemies. He shall put on righteousness as a breastplate, and true judgment instead of a helmet. He shall take holiness for an invincible shield. His severe wrath shall He sharpen for a sword, and the world shall fight with Him against the unwise. Then shall the right-aiming thunderbolts go abroad, and from the clouds, as from a well-drawn bow, shall they fly to the mark. And as from a stone-bow shall hailstones full of wrath be cast forth, and the water of the sea shall rage indignantly against them, and floods shall cruelly drown them. Yea, a mighty wind shall stand up against them, and like a storm shall blow them away; thus iniquity shall lay waste the whole earth, and ill dealing shall overthrow the thrones of the mighty. Hear, therefore, O ye kings, and understand; learn, ye that be judges of the ends of the earth.

Give ear, ye that rule a multitude and vaunt yourselves in throngs of nations, for power is given you from the Lord and sovereignty from the Most High.

The Third Passage

Deacon: Wisdom!

Reader: The Reading from the Wisdom of Solomon. (4:7-15)

Deacon: Let us attend!

Reader: Though the righteous happen to die, yet shall he be in rest; for honorable age is not that which standeth in length of time, nor that which is measured by number of years. But wisdom is the gray hair unto men, and an unspotted life is old age. He pleased God, and was beloved of Him, so that living among sinners he was translated. Yea, speedily was he taken away, lest that wickedness should alter his understanding, or deceit beguile his soul; for the fascination of wickedness doth obscure things that are honest, and the wandering of desire doth undermine the simple mind. He being made perfect in a short time, fulfilled a long time; for his soul pleased the Lord; therefore hastened He to take him away from among the wicked. This the people saw, and understood it not, neither did they lay this up in their minds, that His grace and mercy is with His Saints, and that He doth visit His chosen.

Choir: To Thee, O Lord.

- All bow their heads as the priest says the following prayer:

Priest: O Lord our God, Who didst bow the heavens and come down for the salvation of mankind: Look upon Thy servants and Thine inheritance; for unto Thee, the fearful Judge Who yet lovest mankind, have Thy servants bowed their heads and submissively inclined their necks, awaiting not help from men but entreating Thy mercy and looking confidently for Thy salvation. Guard them at all times, both during this present evening and in the approaching night, from every foe, from all adverse powers of the devil, and from vain thoughts and from evil imaginations.

Blessed and glorified be the might of Thy kingdom: of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit; now and ever, and unto ages of ages.

Choir: Amen.

THE APOSTICHA FOR ST. ANTHONY IN TONE FIVE (Rejoice)

Rejoice, prince of ascetics and monks, * thou who becamest their invincible champion; * for cutting the roots of passions and bravely bearing the blows * of the demons' onslaughts, thou didst overcome * their utter infirmity and their error, which slayeth souls; * and thou didst show forth the great strength of the Savior's Cross, * making manifest that its might is invincible. * Girding thyself therewith, thou overcamest all that reject * Christ God's divine and most honored appearance unto us in the flesh. *To Him, righteous Father, * make entreaty that He grant His Great Mercy to our souls.

Verse 1. Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of His saint.

Thou wast a shining pillar of light * raised up in virtues and a cloud overshadowing * all them that were in the wilderness, and thou wentest before, * leading seers of God from earth to Heaven's heights.* By parting the passions' sea with the rod of the Savior's Cross * and overcoming the invisible Amalek, * thou didst find a clear passage leading up Heavenwards; * there hast thou gained thine everlasting portion, O blest of God, * as with the bodiless Angels, thou now dost stand at the throne of Christ * in great joy and gladness. * Intercede with Him to grant His Great Mercy to our souls.

Verse 2. Blessed is the man that feareth the Lord.

Rejoice, thou who abidest on high * with the Angelic choirs, O famed Father Anthony; * for practicing every virtue through thine ascetic travails, * thou didst truly live the Angels' life on earth, * revealed as a looking-glass free of spot and exceeding clear, * ever receiving the bright lightnings and flashing beams * of the worshipful Holy Spirit, O blessed one. * Wherefore, thou wast illumined and beheldest the things to come, * foretelling all things, since thou wast taught by the shinings of light divine * which Christ shone upon thee. * Intercede with Him to grant His Great Mercy to our souls.
